Campbell Family Genealogy

By tradition, in the time of James the First of England, Sir John Campbell, of Scotland, was duke of Argyle, and assisted at the coronation of his sovereign. Daniel, a descendant, was born in 1660, at Argyle, Scotland; settled at Londonderry, Ireland, and during the struggle in 1688 and '89, he became an officer under William, Prince of Orange, participated in the Battle of the Boyne, which being won, placed William securely upon the throne of England. He had several children, among whom was —

Generation 1: Henry Campbell, born at Londonderry, Ireland, 1697; married in 1717, Martha Black, daughter of Capt. William Black; he was swept in with that great tide of emigration which was flowing to the shores of New England. He, with his family, came to Watertown, Mass., and soon joined his Scotch countrymen at Londonderry, N. H., living on the Turnpike, near Gregg's Mills. In 1733 he bought 240 acres of land in Windham, of John McConihe (spelled MacConechy/Mcconechy in deed dated 17 March, 1733), upon which his descendants still live. This land included the present farms of Henry-C. Crowell, Hiram-S. Reynolds, part of Gardner Robinson's farm, part of F.-J. Hughes's farm, the place of Charles-K. Barker, and the farm of Deacon Samuel Campbell. His home was where Henry-C. Crowell later lived. He died Oct. 1, 1782; she died April 14, 1778, in her 85th year. They are buried in the old cemetery on the plain. He was a signer of the Petition for Charter in 1740 that resulted in the incorporation of the Town of Windham in 1741.

According to L.A. Morrison's History of Windham in New Hampshire,
"The first mention of any mill in Windham is on Nov. 17, 1750, when a highway was laid out 'to Henry Campbell's new sawmill.' This Henry Campbell, emigrant ancestor of the Campbells of Windham, had located on the Henry C. Crowell place in 1733, and being a progressive man, having the public interest, as well as private, at heart, had erected a mill as early as 1750. This was located in West Windham, on Beaver Brook, at what has latterly been known as Burnham's Mills. This mill was owned by the Campbells for many years." Bessie McCleave Campbell's research notes say that Henry was also called the "Emigrant."

Generation 2: Deacon Samuel born Londonderry, Ireland, 1722; died Feb. 1, 1797, He was the first occupant of the farm later occupied by his great-grandson, Deacon Samuel Campbell; his first house stood near Beaver Brook. He also built the house demolished by Deacon Campbell a few years since; his education was good, and he was one of Windham's first teachers. He became prominent in town, and often held positions of trust; he was clerk from 1761 to 1774 inclusive; presided in eight town-meetings; selectman in 1744, '51, '65, '66, and '67; was made an elder in the church during Rev. John Kinkead's ministry. He was a soldier of the Revolution. He married Mary Robinson, born in Ireland c.1722, she died Dec 13, 1792, in her 70th year.

Generation 3: John, b. Windham Nov. 3, 1762; d. Nov. 13, 1832, age 70 yrs. He lived where his father had resided before him, on the farm which his grandson, Deacon Samuel Campbell, occupied. He was an active and influential man in the town, and was prominent, being in positions of public trust for many years. He was town clerk in 1799, 1801, 1805; moderator of annual meetings, 1810, '11, and '14; selectman, 1794, '95, 1802, '04, '06, '08, '09, '11, '24; representative in 1812, '14, '15, '16, '17, and '18. Generation 4: Robert Moor b. Windham Dec. 13, 1789; d. April 24, 1864, age 74 yrs. He lived upon the farm now owned by his son, Deacon Samuel Campbell. He was a stirring man, and took an interest in all the public institutions of his town ; was a member of the church and religious society; served as selectman in 1830, '31,'32, '33, '37, '41, and '42, and was collector of taxes for several years. He married Dec. 13, 1814, Anna Carr, who was the mother of his children; she d. Sept. 20, 1837, age 50 years; he married 2d, Generation 5: Deacon Samuel and Lydia E. Crowell. Samuel was born in Windham Sept. 1, 1819. He and Lydia lived upon the farm whose broad acres were first turned over to the sunshine and the rain by the plow of their great-grandfather, Deacon Samuel Campbell. There before him three generations of his race have toiled and collected the annual harvests; and there he in contentment and peace yearly plants and sows, and gathers the increase of the land. He has been intimately associated with the interests of the religious society, the church, and the town. He was made an elder during the pastorate of Rev. Loren Thayer. He served as moderator of annual meeting in 1862; treasurer several years; selectman in 1854, '55, '56, '65, '73, '74, '75; representative in 1860, '61. He married Sept. 19, 1844, his third cousin, Lydia Crowell, daughter of Jesse Crowell and Hannah Campbell, born November 30, 1824. Hannah Campbell was the daughter of Henry Campbell and Isabel Gregg. Henry Campbell was the son of William Campbell and Mary Gregg. William was the son of the emigrant, Henry Campbell and Martha Black. Lydia died in Derry on December 24, 1890.
